San Carlos Grants Permit In Liquor License Dispute

Despite objections by leaders of the San Carlos Community Church, the Sherry Liquor Store chain today held a city business license to operate an off-sale liquor store at 864 Laurel St.

The license was granted by City Clerk Kathleen M. Grant of San Carlos after the State Board of Equalization had taken "favorable action" on the Sherry application.

No official statement on the application was forthcoming from the San Francisco office of the state agency today. However, the formal ruling is expected to reach the Bay Area office before the first of the year, authorities said.

The board held a hearing in the San Carlos City Hall last Tuesday. Referee E. A. McDonald presided at the hearing and submitted a recommendation to the board.

McDonald could not be reached for comment this week. He said earlier that the state agency had the power to overrule his opinion should its members see fit.

The store had been opposed by the Rev. Weldon Batty, pastor of the church, and the chairman of its board of directors, Atty. John Waldier.

When informed of the board's action, Waldier's only comment was:

"It's very unfortunate that the State Board of Equalization sees fit to approve establishment of a liquor dispensing business on property adjacent to the church."

Waldier said that the church's only recourse to the board's approval would be to ask for a writ of review from the district court of appeals.

Whether such action would be taken was not known by Waldier.

The church leaders, backed by a petition from 40 members who use the church, had based their stand on the fact that the liquor store is located some 54 feet from church property.

The churchmen also pointed out at the hearing that the old church building, which serves as a meeting place for several groups, has its entrance facing the rear of the store.

Among the groups which use the meeting place, said Rev. Mr. Batty, is Alcoholics Anonymous.

SC School Name Still Debated

Contrary to earlier reports, the new name for San Carlos' east-side school is not a dead issue.

Two organizations presently are working on the project and are expected to submit new suggestions to the San Carlos Elementary School Dist. trustees early next year, it was announced.

The board last week reported that only 34 suggested names had been submitted—all from within a group of six persons.

However, the Clearfield Park Improvement Assn., whose members live east of the Old County Rd., is hard at work on the problem.

At last week's meeting, Pres. H. L. Anderson and Committee-man W. J. Baum presented a petition signed by 250 residents. It asked that the name "Laureola" be considered in place of Portola.

The group's accompanying letter gave three reasons: 1—it should be inspirational; 2—in keeping with early California tradition and unique, and 3—easily pronounced and spelled the way is sound.

One other group, as yet unidentified, is also working on a name which would replace Portola. The latter name has been in disfavor because of its common use elsewhere, and because it is pronounced with the accent on the first syllable.

Children would have more difficulty with that one, proponents of the Clearfield Park name feel.

Junior Matrons Of SC Hold Christmas Party

Christmas came early in San Carlos when the Junior Matrons held their Christmas party in Cherington Hall last Wednesday. Highlight of the afternoon was a skit under the direction of Mrs. Tex Justus, with Suzanne Parsons as mistress of ceremonies.

Representing different nations and their Christmas customs were Mildred Kemp, as an old fashioned English lady; Gale Milne as a Scotch lassie; Alice Felling as a French maid; Audie Justus as an "old fashioned" Russian; Mabel Musgrave as an authentic Swiss miss; Phyllis Waldier as a little Belgian girl; Fern Shively as a Latin American, complete with her pound of coffee; Frances Smith as a Mexican senorita, and Marie Ahrens as a China doll, accompanied by Ade Heisel, Leapy Greenlee and Adeline Neff as a six-legged dragon.

Dorothea Burbick was the piano accompanist and opened the program with two solos. The afternoon was climaxed with the arrival of Drew Morrison as a most original Santa Claus, singing of Christmas carols and distribution of gifts concluded the celebration.

A buffet luncheon of Chinese food was served by the hostesses of the day, Mrs. H. W. Russell as chairman, assisted by Mrs. James Jackson, Mrs. A. M. Neff, Mrs. Myron Greenlee, Mrs. D. M. Edwards, Mrs. W. S. Fulton, Mrs. John Gettle, Mrs. John Cooke, Mrs. J. L. Heisel, Mrs. D. C. Olson and Mrs. T. F. Marvin.

Mrs. George Greenleaf, president, announced the conclusion of the fall bridge tournament and named Mrs. A. D. Christensen and Mrs. R. S. Rivers as in charge of the spring tournament to start in February.

CHP to Stress Holiday Caution

Members of the San Mateo County Highway Patrol Division this week is addressing service and fraternal organizations in a campaign aimed at keeping the holiday traffic toll at a low rate.

Capt. E. F. Cassell said that he and three sergeants will make short safety talks to organizations in the county.

Meanwhile, the CHP was girding for the expected heavy traffic during the Christmas holidays.

Cassell said that days off for his crew had been cancelled, and every patrolman will be thrown into the patrol's effort to make the county's highways safe.

The evening and early morning shifts will be supplemented with three additional men, Cassell said.

Scarlet Fever Quarantines Juvenile Hall

San Mateo County's Juvenile Hall, Hillcrest, was under partial quarantine this week because of four cases of scarlet fever during the past week.

Chief Probation Officer John S. Cowgill said that the juvenile hall is not allowed to accept any new cases for the rest of the week, except in emergencies.

However, the 22 children and 29 staff members will not have to remain on the grounds of the juvenile home west of Belmont.

The children may be transferred to their homes or to foster homes, but not to other institutions where many other children would be exposed.

The staff members and clerical employees may come and go at will, Cowgill declared.

Three of the children are in Community Hospital with scarlet fever. Mrs. Ramona Smith of Burlingame, a supervisor, contracted the disease Friday and is confined to her home.

Both the children and staff members have been ordered to take penicillin tablets as a precaution, Cowgill reported.

Committee Plans Christmas Fete For 1600 Veterans

Preparations to give a happier Christmas season to the approximately 1600 hospitalized veterans of the Peninsula are just about completed, A. H. Sagehorn, president of the Peninsula Christmas Committee for Hospitalized Veterans, announced today.

However to finance this year's project and to have funds to carry on in the future an immediate response in contributions from many more organizations of this area is necessary the president emphasized. This coordinating committee relies solely upon funds from local groups and a few interested individuals. The work of the committee has been highly commended, Mr. Sagehorn said, both by officials of the veterans hospital and by contributing groups.

It is the intention of the committee to provide packages with high quality articles, a gift wrapped, for every hospitalized veteran patient of the area. Also to furnish ward Christmas trees lighted and decorated and to supply auditorium entertainment for many patients. It is unthinkable, Mr. Sagehorn said, that lack of funds should curtail any of these arrangements as the disappointment to the veteran would be very keen.

A prompt reply now from those groups who have not yet contributed will assure this year's success and bright prospects for the future, Mr. Sagehorn concluded.

State, County Show Growth

Taxable value of property in San Mateo County is 71.3 per cent greater this year than it was in 1941-42, California Taxpayers' Assn. reported today.

For 1949-50, total taxable value of property in the county reached $214,141,281, compared with $124,978,000 for 1941-42.

Assessed value of property in the county for this year is 11 per cent more than for last year, when it reached $192,999,746.

Statewide, the assessed value of taxable property is 80 per cent greater for 1949-50 than it was for 1941-42.

Total taxable value of property in California this year is $13,227,731,114, compared with $7,350,926,865 for 1941-42.

Assessed value of taxable property in California is 8.5 per cent greater for 1949-50 than for 1948-49, when the total valuation reached $12,193,012,251.

In seven counties, total taxable valuation for 1949-50 is more than double what it was for 1941-42, the association found. Riverside county shows a 171 per cent increase; San Luis Obispo County is up 131 per cent; Orange and Ventura counties, 128 per cent; El Dorado, 104 per cent; Los Angeles County, 102 per cent; and Contra Costa County up 100 per cent.

ST. JOIANS GO ON REVIEW—Majorette Margie Lageson and Drum Major Ed Webster go through their highstepping rehearsals this week in preparation for the East-West football game at Kesar, Dec. 31, when the Sequoia High School Band will participate in the pre-game pageant. The high school musicians, under the direction of Robert Smith, won praise as one of the best high school marching units in Northern California during the past season and earned an invitation to the Shrine festivities. The band will be transported in a new modern bus which just arrived at Sequoia this month.

SC Planners Get Report On Business Alley Projects

San Carlos Planning Commission members were given a three-man report on projected alleys within the business district at this week's meeting.

The committee was composed of Chmn. John Sirex, Cmsr. Patrick J. O'Meara and City Mgr. Howard W. Brod. Cmsr. George Lagomarsino, also appointed to the panel, was unable to take part in the meetings.

The committee's report was submitted along with a map illustrating features of the master plan and that of a plan up for immediate action.

The report stated that most blocks have alleys already, though nine were found to be in need of modification, the committee stated.

The master plan mentioned in the report called for installation of alleys directly through improvements, though it is not expected to be put through for some time.

For the city's immediate needs the group urged circumvention of present buildings. T-shaped alleys were recommended to eliminate high costs in some areas.

In block 4, Oak Park subdivision, the committee made no recommendation. The presence of a ditch which drains off storm waters would necessitate construction of a costly bridge, the committee stated.

A double-T alley was urged for block 18 in the business area near Carlos Theater property.

Present development permits future alleys to line up with that behind the fire house to the east.

The present T alley in that block should be widened at a future date, because it is now only 10 feet wide, the committee stated.

In block 17, the committee asked that a private alley now being used be included in the master plan until the city can obtain rights-of-way needed.

Bends in alleys also were provided for in the report. One such alley, located in block 15, Town of San Carlos, would have bends at both north and south ends.

The other alley, in block 15, Lyon & Hoag subdivision, would have a bend at the north end.

Both bends were recommended to eliminate costly relocation of existing buildings.

The commission also set three hearings on requests for changes in zoning requirements. All will be heard on Jan. 16.

They involved a request from Laurel Theater operators for use of property behind the theater as a parking lot, and requests from Jerry Orr and M. B. Johnson, real estate operators, for changes from first residential to third residential.

The latter two requests involve property on Chestnut near Magnolia St.

The property is located on the Old Boyd estate, a portion of which is now owned by Contractor A. I. Larsen. Larsen last night signed one request, which was reset for hearing at the January meeting.

Wedding Plans Fall Through, Belmont Man Commits Suicide

The failure of wedding plans was held responsible by the sheriff's office today for the suicide of Percy C. Lutz, 49-year-old painter, who lived at 1501 Harbor Blvd., Belmont.

Mr. Lutz' body was found in his car Sunday morning by William Glass of La Honda. The car was parked off La Honda Rd., two and a half miles west of Skyline Blvd.

Chief Dep. Sheriff Walter Moore said that Mr. Lutz had led a piece of hose from the exhaust pipe of the car through the window. He had been dead three or four days when he was found.

In the car were two suicide notes, one to "Mother and Dad," and the other to "Mildred," whom the sheriff's office did not identify.

"Dear Mother and Dad," the first note read. "Please understand. I am just tired of the struggle. Getty woosy. Please don't blame Mildred."

The notes apparently were written while the fumes from the car were taking effect, the sheriff's office reported.

Moore said that Mr. Lutz and "Mildred" had planned to get married, but the plans collapsed.

Mr. Lutz last was seen in San Francisco a week ago, and his father, Nelson Lutz, reported him missing to San Francisco police.

Survivors include the father, who lives in San Francisco; Mr. Lutz' mother, Mrs. Blanche De Arnaz of Belmont; and two sisters, Mrs. Hilda A. Kayer, Belmont, and Mrs. Leora De Jordin, San Francisco.

SM County Takes Over Housing Units

The San Mateo County Board of Supervisors Tuesday morning voted to take over the Coyote Point housing project from the Federal government, thereby paving the way for its early closing.

Supervisor Alvin S. Hatch said that the San Mateo City Council, at a caucus meeting last night with the supervisors, said that if the county took over the project, San Mateo would start immediate action to abate the project as a nuisance.

"The abatement will start the disintegration of the project," Hatch declared.

Under Federal control, the deadline for closing the veterans temporary housing units is Jan. 1, 1951. The deadline could be extended further.

When the county takes over the project, it removes it from the control of the Federal government and will have to deal with the state, Dist. Atty. Louis B. Dematteis told the supervisors.

The law reads, Dematteis continued, that the project could be terminated at any time by the local authority, after the county has taken over. However, the district attorney added, the county does not have full determination, but will have to abide by state decisions in connection with such projects.

Supervisor Thomas L. Hickey of South San Francisco made the motion for the county to take over. Hatch seconded.

"I have been reluctant to have the county assume the responsibility, considering the fire hazard and health conditions," Supervisor Martin A. Foss declared.

"However, after discussing the matter with the San Mateo city officials I am willing to agree to it."

Supervisor Edward R. McDonald cast his vote, making the deal unanimous, reluctantly.

'62 Jinx Strikes At Ralston Ave.

For the second time within the space of four days, a 62-year-old pedestrian was recovering from injuries suffered at the Belmont intersection of Ralston Ave. and El Camino Real.

Latest victim of the crossing is Adrian J. Schoorl, of Holly Rd. and Ralston Ave., who was knocked to the highway about 8:20 p.m. Saturday after alighting from a bus.

The pedestrian was struck by an automobile driven by Adrian J. Messner, 28, 1317 Sunnyslope Ave., Belmont.

Schoorl was taken by county ambulance to Community Hospital, where he was treated for a broken right leg.

Police reported that Schoorl was headed west across the highway when the signal changed. He was midway in the highway when struck by the Messner automobile, according to police.

Only last Wednesday, said police, H. W. Hannibal, 62, 1250 Fifth Ave., suffered cracked ribs when struck by an automobile driven by Kenneth Neil Ward, 22, Old County Rd.

Mortuary Plans To Be Aired Again

The Redwood City City Council has set Jan. 3 as the date for public hearings to be held on the rezoning of the Redeemer Lutheran Church for use as a mortuary.

Atty. Norman S. Menifee, representing the mortuary interests, presented a notice of appeal after the city's planning commission had denied the application, ruling that the mortuary could not be allowed under the terms of the zoning ordinance.

Mortuary proponents had the right of appeal even if the planners had turned the matter down.

The only action of the council was to set the date for public hearings on the matter.

Menifee's clients seek to establish the mortuary in the church, 1303 Jefferson Ave., but have to receive the final approval of the council.

The matter has been before the planning commission. At that time a number of residents of the area objected to establishing a mortuary on the site.

Planners Propose SC Ave. Extension To Bayshore Hwy.

Major changes in entrance streets and grade crossings were recommended by a special committee at this week's meeting of the San Carlos Planning Commission.

Chief change urged by the five-man group involves closing Holly St. as an entrance from the Bayshore Hwy. and extending San Carlos Ave. east to the Bayshore for installation of a cloverleaf.

The group also recommended that the Brittan Ave. railroad crossing be eliminated and that Howard Ave. be developed in its stead.

Serving on the committee were Cmsr. Kneeland Stone, chairman; Cmsr. P. J. O'Meara and Fred Drake, City Mgr. Howard W. Brod and City Engineer Edwin H. Smith.

They were named by the commission at its Nov. 21 meeting to study two phases of the city's problem. One question was to find a suitable method of entering the city from the Bayshore. The other concerned suitability of Holly and Brittan grade crossings.

The 12-point program set up by the committee included a plan calling for removal of the present traffic actuated signal at Holly to Howard Ave. and El Camino Real.

The committee made it clear that "immediate action" on the part of the planning commission and the council is needed.

The report concluded that "it is conceivable that the freeway project may be initiated considerably in advance" of the present three-year plan advocated by the state.

The committee reported that speed in adopting the plan was necessary because of "considerable pressure being exerted by several civic and governmental groups on the Peninsula" to get state action on the freeway within the three-year period.

Under the committee's plan San Carlos Ave. would be extended to the Bayshore. It would bypass the present Southern Pacific baggage room, which could be done by eliminating or relocating the structure.

San Carlos Ave. would be widened in its eastside portion to 60 feet, the plan suggested. It is presently dedicated to a 40-foot width.

A partial cloverleaf to serve eastside residents and those wishing to enter the city's industrial tract also would be provided. The right-turn offshoot of the chief San Carlos Ave. cloverleaf would lessen traffic at El Camino Real, the committee stated.

Left-hand turns off the cloverleaf would be facilitated by construction of a traffic storage lane.

The railroad crossings involve other items, including installation of traffic gates at both Howard Ave. and San Carlos Ave., where none now exists.

Howard Ave. would be widened "to the fullest width practicable" between El Camino Real and Laurel St. Howard Ave. would then tie in with a proposed 80-foot industrial street, eliminating B St.

The committee based its objections to use of Holly St. as the chief entrance on five basic reasons.

They are: 1—it is too narrow, would cost too much to move homes back in widening it; 2—it is located in a residential area; 3—it has a short radius curve, creating another hazard; 4—it creates traffic problems at El Camino Real because of left turns; 5—it is short and so located too far from the center of town.

The committee also considered extending Arroyo Ave., still more centrally located for the residential area. However, the street did not serve the business district sufficiently and is not now wide enough.

Arroyo Ave. was eliminated from further consideration.

East San Carlos Ave., the committee recommended, would have no parking on its north side, but a 10-foot strip on the south would be created for that purpose.

With such parking facilities available, the street still would have a four-foot dividing strip in the center, and four 10-foot traffic lanes.

The committee recommended changing the Brittan Ave. grade crossing because of the street's high elevation. The change to Howard Ave. was urged despite the width of Brittan Ave. westward from El Camino Real.

Menlo Park Maps Vast Improvements

Menlo Park planners unveiled a master plan for new city streets, parking areas, and grade separations at a public hearing this week.

The public will have another chance to view and comment on the master plan, which envisions no zoning changes, at a second hearing Jan. 16.

Special features of the plan are the extension of two major streets, provision for several large parking areas, and construction of two grade separations—one across Bayshore Hwy. and one under the main Southern Pacific right-of-way.

Planning Commission Chmn. Charles A. Andrews indicated that the master plan sets forth what the city intends to do, although none of the projects is ready now.

Projects set as future goals include:

Street Extensions: Alma St. from San Francisco Creek to Ravenswood Ave., 100 feet wide. Willow Rd. from Middlefield Rd. to El Camino Real, 70 feet wide. Merrill St. from Oak Grove Ave. to Buckthorne Way, 40 feet wide. Alto Ln. from Cambridge Ave. to Patridge Ave., 20 feet wide. A new street from Doyle St. to University Dr., between Santa Cruz Ave. and Menlo Ave., 50 feet wide.

Grade Separations: A cloverleaf at the intersection of the extensions of Willow Rd. and Alma St. and the Southern Pacific tracks.

A two-lane overpass with a pedestrian walkway across Bayshore Hwy. at or near the present Belle Haven underpass.

Widening: Santa Cruz Ave. southwest of University Dr. by 10 feet.

Parking Lots: In the center of the block bounded by El Camino Real, Santa Cruz Ave., Merrill St. and Oak Grove Ave.

In part of the block bounded by Crane St., Santa Cruz Ave., University Dr. and Oak Grove Ave.

Parking Alleys: From Valparaiso Ave. to Oak Grove Ave. between El Camino Real and Hoover St., 45 feet wide. From Encinal Ave. to Glenwood Ave. between El Camino Real and the extension of Merrill St., 20 feet wide.

An H-shaped parking alley system in the block bounded by Chestnut St., Santa Cruz Ave., Crane St. and Oak Grove Ave., with alleys 20 feet wide.

Pedestrian Walkways: From Robie Ave. to Nealon Park.

Two other areas were earmarked for some parking facilities, depending on layout of their future developments. They are the block bounded by El Camino Real, Oak Grove Ave., Merrill St. Extension, and Glenwood Ave. and the southwest corner of the intersection of El Camino Real and Middle Ave.

Mrs. Dora Popik Succumbs Here

Mrs. Dora Popik, wife of a well-known Redwood City businessman, died suddenly at her home Tuesday night after suffering a heart attack. She was 58.

Mrs. Popik had been in ill health for some time. She was pronounced dead before a Redwood City Fire Dept. rescue crew could administer aid about 9:30 p.m.

A native of Kiev, Russia, Mrs. Popik had lived in Redwood City for the past 10 years. She previously resided in San Francisco.

She was a member of B'nai B'rith, Hadassah, and Sisterhood of Temple Beth Jacob. In addition to her husband, Uke, a Redwood City furniture dealer, Mrs. Popik is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Marion Smilovitz, and a son, Jack Popik, both of Redwood City. Three grandchildren, William and Susan Popik and Sanford Smilovitz, all of Redwood City, also survive.

RC Man Works for 40 Days On $1000 Nativity Scene

Because Salvadore Meglio wants to accent the true Christmas spirit, he has set up a nativity scene this year at his home at 125 Bonita Ave. in Redwood City.

This setting is the most complete in his career. It contains over 100 separate pieces, all imported from his native Italy. The background, completely constructed from wood, took Meglio 40 days to complete and measures 7 ft. long, 6 ft. wide and 3 ft. deep. He estimates the value of the figurines, material and labor at $1000.

Its theme is the joyousness of the people over the Saviour's birth and represents all types of persons bringing gifts to the infant, he explained.

The Child is centered in the cave, with a donkey and cow at His side and Joseph and the Virgin flanking the cave. The traditional three kings, shepherds and angels are present, as well as merchants, farmers, housewives, children, a washerwoman, a monk and horn and pipe players, all bring their respective offerings. The largest figure is about a foot high, and the smallest about 2 inches.

The market place and an inn of Bethlehem are shown along one side. Stands selling fish, melons and candy are set up, and meals are in progress in the rooms of the inns. The marvelous detailing is shown by the tiny wine bottles, cups and plates and different foods on the tables.

The scene is framed in yellow tapestry, over 200 years old. The sky is made from a piece of gray silk, illuminated by 36 light bulbs, invisible when viewing the setting. The figures were imported from a group of Italian artists specializing in this work, after Meglio unsuccessfully tried to obtain the articles in the United States.

Meglio says his setting is a smaller model of one in a Naples museum, which is worth more than one million dollars and takes as much space as an entire house.

Creating nativity scenes has been his hobby since he was 14 years old. Meglio, who is employed as a butcher in the Safeway Store on Arch St. and Brewster Ave., came to Redwood City four years ago from New York City.
